

Delivery plan for ECON 4G03/6G03 - Fall 2021

Important notes:

1. This is a plan. It will be revised over the Summer and during the Fall term according to the public health situation. Therefore, it is possible that some, or all, of the in-person activities described below will be converted to online activities.
2. There will be no in-person meeting in the first week of classes (Sept. 7th-10th, 2021).

Delivery plan:

- All lectures will be delivered remotely.
- This course has labs. They will take place in-person according to physical distancing rules in effect. The labs will also be livestreamed for those who cannot attend.
- No assessment will take place in-person.

A complete course outline will be posted on the Department of Economics website in August. In the meantime, you can refer to past outlines.
